

Europa: A Thousand Years of Oil

Its finally happening: the world is running out of oil. As major nations jockey and feud for the last carbon resources on the planet, one oil company sets its sights on the vast energy reserves of Europa, one of the largest of Jupiters moons. Thought to have twice as much water as Earth, Europa offers humanity the best chance of finding microorganic life within the solar systemlife that would prohibit harvesting the moons resources under international space laws. To confirm the presence or absence of life, Earths leaders plan a manned mission to Europa. Jamie Caldicott, husband, father, and hero of a botched Mars mission, grudgingly accepts a position on the crew. His main concern is providing for his family. The presence or absence of European life doesnt much interest him. As the mission progresses, however, it becomes evident that powerful interests plan to harvest Europa whether or not life exists. As they journey farther from Earth than any manned craft before them, Caldicott discovers that some of his crewmates arent who they claim to be. The fates of two worlds depend on Jamie Caldicott. If he makes the wrong choice, hell never return from Europas icy surface.

A thrilling mix of Jules Verne and An Inconvenient Truth, Europa offers a glimpse of the upcoming energy crisis and the steps humanity must take to survive its addiction to carbon fuels.
